

ABSTRACT

Methods and systems are disclosed for monitoring foreign visitors, detecting visa overstays and collecting intelligence, particularly useful in countering international terrorism. The methods and systems employ internet, self-reporting techniques and automated data processing.